Vol. 63, No. 9

Deerfield Academy, Deerfield, Mass. 01342

May 26, 1989

Ms. Virginia Lawreck and Mrs. Lyn Mattoon were awarded summer grants.

Grants awarded to 30 faculty members for summer '89

by Edmund Chan

This summer approximately 30 teachers will receive grants for sustained academic work in their respective fields of study.

Several teachers will attend classes at the University of Massachusetts, Mount Holyoke College, and Dartmouth College while others will do work abroad. Ms. Virginia Lawreck will be travelling with 14 students to Cuernavaca, Mexico, immediately following final exams. The students will undergo intensive studies in the Spanish language by attending classes and living with Mexican families.

Ms. Lawreck, in addition, will be involved with a research project on the Spanish writer Garcia Marquez. She said, "The trip to Cuernavaca is a wonderful educational experience for students. I'm really looking forward to working on that project."

Mr. John Reese, acting instructor and director of this spring's Charley's Aunt, has been accepted into a highly competitive acting program sponsored by Yale University. He will be at Oxford University. English teacher Lyn Mattoon will also be in England attending a philosophy conference.

The farthest and most exotic place of study will be Thailand, where Mr. Michael Bois will spend three weeks with 21 other teachers from schools across the United States. Mr. Bois, who is a Far East History instructor, will be going to Thailand "because it [Thailand] is the most prominent of the Far Eastern countries." Since he will be going with other history teachers, he expects to do the bulk of learning "through sharing thoughts and ideas" gathered from travel and lectures.

On a more domestic scale, English Department Chairman Tedman Littwin, along with eight other English teachers, will be reading seven books written by women. "We need to include more diversified books and expand on the number of books we're [English Department] familiar with," he said.

Mr. James Hemingway, English teacher and faculty advisor for Radio Station WGAI, will be working throughout the summer on the new radio station and recording studio. He recently asked the Student Council for funds to purchase a digital audio tape which will be the centerpiece for the recording studio.

This studio will provide student groups with the opportunity to make professional recordings on campus. Speaking of WGAI and the recording studio as a whole, Mr. Hemingway boasted that it will be "a completely redesigned facility with impressive changes. The best thing about it will be the acoustically designed studios and a really nice reception area." The new studios will be located on the second floor of the Memorial Building, under the present studio.

Mr. Brian Cooke to become new college advisor in fall of 1989

by Will Cooley

Mr. Brian P. Cooke has been chosen to join the college advising office in the fall of 1989. Mr. Cooke, a history teacher at Deerfield in his third year, will help fill the void left by the transfer of Mr. Alan Fraker to the role of Dean of Studies.

From the beginning of his career at Deerfield, Mr. Cooke has expressed an interest in becoming a college advisor. When an opening in the advising office became available, Mr. Cooke's name was suggested. The final approval was made by Headmaster Robert Kaufmann, Dean of Faculty Robert Mattoon and Ms. Martha Lyman, college advisor.

Mr. Cooke has a great deal to offer the college advising office. Ms. Lyman stated, "He will add to the effectiveness of having a broad range of advisors." Mr. Cooke is unique because he comes in contact with a large number of students through teaching, coaching and being a corridor master. The decision to add another advisor was made because with an issue as important as college admission, it is necessary to have many people involved. Considering Mr. Cooke's interest in students, he will be an important addition.

Next fall, Mr. Cooke will teach only Advanced Placement Modern European History, but he is excited to have the opportunity to work as a college advisor. He commented, "From a personal point of view, it is something I like to do. It will allow me to deal with students in a different capacity."

Mr. Cooke has not had any specific experience as a college advisor, but he believes that his years of academic advising at Deerfield and other schools will be useful. The main thing Mr. Cooke feels he must do is become more familiar with the various colleges and universities.

Twenty-five members of the senior class will have Mr. Cooke as a college advisor. The other seniors are divided up among Mrs. Elizabeth Hastings, Ms. Lyman and Mr. Nicholas Albertson. Ms. Lyman stated, "Because the college advisors work largely as a group, the rest of us will be able to spend time helping Mr. Cooke in his first year."

Mr. Cooke commented, "I am looking forward to this position for many reasons. I will become involved at Deerfield in a broader capacity, join a talented college advising staff, and represent Deerfield to the different colleges and universities."

Mr. Brian Cooke was recently named a College Advisor.

Expanded telephone system to provide more services

by Kevin Psonak

A year and a half of negotiation and planning by Assistant Treasurer and Business Manager Michael Sheridan has culminated with the installation of the Northern Telecom-manufactured Meridian SL-1 phone system.

Mr. Sheridan said that the greatest advantage of the new system is that it is modular. He added, however, that finances played a large role in his decision to purchase the Meridian. Due to the growing cost of maintaining the former system, a more economical network became necessary. Within four years, this system will have saved enough money to pay for itself.

Mr. Sheridan noted, "An added advantage is that the President of Northern Telecom, Edmund Fitzgerald, is a Deerfield graduate and will help out with some of the finances."

Mr. Sheridan learned more than a year ago that parts for the former telephone system were no longer being made. He also anticipated a large service contract increase which finances the maintaining of the network. He claimed, "It became difficult to guarantee that the system could be maintained at a fair price. There became a great need for a new network."

To avoid financial losses, Mr. Sheridan contacted six companies and requested proposals for a new system. Five expressed interest and submitted 20 to 40 page proposals which fit the parameters of price, guarantees, and the specific needs of the school. Northern Telecom impressed Mr. Sheridan with a close adherence to his criteria.

After a five-week installment period, Meridian replaced the six-year-old former system May 10. The two systems worked simultaneously for one day before the new network took control of the 250 Deerfield phones.

One purpose for Mr. Sheridan's purchase of Meridian was to ease the switchboard's work. A new automotive feature will direct calls to certain locations without the switchboard's assistance. Gretchen Miner, who is in charge of the switchboard, commented, "This feature will fortunately allow fewer phone calls to be lost since more people's calls will be answered."

Northern Telecom's product gives all responsibility of turning off phone lines during study hall to the switchboard. Faculty residents will no longer control the phone's on/off switches because a more centralized control was deemed more convenient for executing new phone policies. During study hall, inter-dormitory calls will be eliminated, while calls to faculty and off-campus locations will be possible.

Along with Meridian will come several new answering services for the busiest offices and for department chairs' phones. In addition, many of these phones have been replaced with digital equipment, improving the quality of sound.

Mr. Sheridan projected, "Although the changed phone system will be virtually transparent to the students, the lower cost and increased convenience will be beneficial to many people."

Trustee President James Schoff takes on new role in autumn

by James Harberson

Mr. James Schoff was appointed President of Deerfield's Board of Trustees three weeks ago.

He came to Deerfield in 1948 from the Allan Stevenson School in New York City. Mr. Schoff was involved in many activities while at Deerfield, including Glee Club, football, basketball, and varsity baseball.

After graduating in 1951, he entered Cornell University, receiving a B.A. in 1955.

Once out of college, Mr. Schoff served for two years in the army and also worked in a management trainee program at Bloomingdale's, the prominent New York department store. His father also directed Federated Department Stores, which included Bloomingdale's.

In 1957, he left Bloomingdale's to work for Marshall Field and Co. in Chicago. Mr. Schoff returned to Bloomingdale's in 1960, where he became a vice-president and director of their home furnishing stores in the Northeast. He later became president of Bloomingdale's.

Mr. Schoff resigned from Bloomingdale's in 1984 to pursue personal business interests. He lives in Pelham, New York, with Joanna, his wife of 33 years.

Mr. Schoff served in many school functions before his appointment to the board. He was on the Executive Committee of the Alumni Association from 1979-1982. He also worked on the 35th reunion of his class as well as being Chairman of the New York City area for the recent Deerfield Campaign.

As President, Mr. Schoff's main duties are to oversee the fiscal and physical needs of the school. He sets pace and agenda with Headmaster Robert Kaufmann. Mr. Schoff also wants to maintain a happy school, keeping the close interaction between students and faculty for which Deerfield is renowned.

Mr. Schoff noted that when the board decided Deerfield would go co-ed, an immediate concern arose. "The board didn't want the school to evolve into just another coed boarding school." His primary objective at present is to make sure co-education runs "smoothly and happily for everybody."

Mr. Schoff pointed out that success for the school starts with "first quality" faculty with a vested interest in young people. To work with them, he wants a "talented and diverse body of top flight students."

Commencement exercises begin, 187 seniors graduate Sunday

by Scott Foster

Deerfield's 1989 Commencement exercises for 187 graduating seniors began Sunday, May 21 when the Baccalaureate Service took place at the Brick Church. At the service, faculty member Peter Hindle '52 addressed the students.

Exercises will resume Saturday, May 27 at noon with the Commencement luncheon for seniors, their families, and faculty members in the East Gymnasium. Following the luncheon will be an awards ceremony and at 4:00, Headmaster Robert Kaufmann will hold a reception for the seniors and their families on the Memorial Building lawn. Saturday evening at 11:30, the traditional final meeting with the Headmaster will take place on the Barton patio.

The 1989 Commencement exercises will culminate

Sunday, May 28, when the 187 seniors graduate. Graduation will be held at 10:00 a.m. on the Administration Building Lawn (rain location: West Gymnasium). Gilbert H. Lamphere '70, President of Deerfield's Board of Trustees, will speak. He will introduce the Honorable Alan Simpson, Republican Senator from Wyoming and the father of William '76 and Colin '78. Senator Simpson will address the senior class and guests before seniors will be awarded their diplomas. Prizes will be given to outstanding members of the class. Among these prizes are the Robert B. Crow Award for academics and the Deerfield Cup, the school's highest honor.

Events will close at a farewell reception for departing seniors and their families on the Manse lawn at 2:00 p.m.

Ave atque vale

Throughout their lives, our new sisters will recount with pride their membership in the first coeducational year at Deerfield since 1948.

But as we join in celebrating this new beginning, spare us a moment of fond remembrance.

On this Commencement weekend, the last all-male class graduates from Deerfield. And with the Class of 1989's departure, we of the community continue to prepare for the arrival of girls in September. While Commencement has usually been a time spent looking to the future, let us just this once spend it recalling the "good times" we have had under the school's single sex status.

On a tender spring night in May we stood together for the last time to sing "Sons of Deerfield." There were some tears as alumni, old boys, and new boys realized that we were living an historic moment. We will cherish our moment, just as the new Deerfield women will treasure their special memories.

That evening will fade in the mist of the past, but those of us who stood together with our brothers and said goodbye to an era will return often to that quiet place in our vault of memory. We are glad we were there. We will "Hail" the new Deerfield, but will not forget the "Farewell" which is due to the old. We are not ashamed to admit our love for it.

How about 1989-90?

As a typical Deerfield student rushes headlong through another busy week, the one thing that keeps his sanity is the weekend. Usually, however, the student finds himself bored out of his gourd on Friday night; he will have sports all day Saturday and if it's a lucky week, there might be a dance only a short two hours bus ride away. If the pressure cooker of the week does not do the student in, the relative boredom during the weekends will.

As one Deerfield student said, "I can usually get through the weeks. They're hard, but you're kept busy all the time so it goes fast. It's the long, boring weekends that kill you."

The Administration keeps wondering why discipline cases are going up, with over 70 this year. Students drink not out of such abstracts as peer pressure, but because of the simple fact of depression and boredom that permeates the campus on weekends.

This is a major problem for the Academy that has to rectified. The Student Activities Committee has to take more initiative in finding events beyond the movie everybody has seen a million times and the obligatory "dance" with the girls' schools. That is about as fun as an away trip to Exeter.

Executive SAC, with all its meetings, should be able to come up with an enjoyable weekend every weekend — by trying new events — such as concerts that people want to hear as well as dances which are more interesting.

It might seem a bit late to be calling for this so late in the year, but with the coming of coeducation next year the Academy must improve the weekend social life with genuinely fun events. Who knows what next year's students will do to combat boredom?

Congratulations

- to D.J. Kim '89 for winning three Gold Key Awards (page 3)
- to the Class of 1989

ersLettersLettersLetters Let

To the Editor:

I would like to tell you a story about a hike I took with the Outdoor Skills group last week, and in doing so express a few ideas I came up with along the way. In fact, I am going to talk about a problem indigenous to Deerfield, and explain how I stumbled upon a solution during that hike.

The day was overcast and cold, and as I walked out the Dining Hall doors after lunch I realized there was nothing to look forward to for the rest of the day. I was about as motivated as the mud squelching under my feet on the way to classes. The rest of the afternoon was drizzly and boring, just like the weather.

I walked down Albany Road to my dorm, noticing that the people around me seemed to share my feelings. Seeing them as listless and unmotivated as myself led to a visualization, depicting us all as a mass of lemmings wearing blinders tumbling into a pit of blackness. Then I began to ponder my daydream and realize we were all suffering from a bad case of narrow-mindedness, an ailment quite contagious in an atmosphere like Deerfield's.

We live in an enclosed area, separated from the real world. In these surroundings the mind tends to switch to a single frequency, or autopilot if you will; hence we have "blinders," my metaphor for a closed mind. The high-powered academic and social aspects of Deerfield can block the path of true learning, turning the mind into a pressure-cooker, pushing for the grade rather than an education, thus putting "blinders" on Deerfield students.

I headed over to "Skills" and met the group. We began a trek down the railroad tracks that eventually led us to a rocky grotto behind Eaglebrook Hill. At this point my mind was completely free of Deerfield. I felt as if I had finally dumped a load of rocks from the pack I had been carrying around school. Looking out at the Connecticut River Valley, I saw a world that my "Deerfield mind" didn't know of. For the first time in quite a while, I began to think again. Walking back through the woods, I regarded nature as one entity, all forms of life being her various appendages, nerves and flesh, all interacting with the cosmos. The feeling of having an open mind, free of pressure and expectation, was a revelation.

The best part of the whole experience, what I'd like to pass on to other members of the Deerfield community, is that I felt the same way when I came back. I had returned to school, but with a mind clear of all the strangling inhibitions generated by Deerfield's competitive atmosphere. I can only recommend that people here go for an occasional hike, to Poc Rock, for example. The rewards for allowing your mind to see Deerfield in the context of the greater world are boundless and can instill a feeling of well-being in people who need an escape from our enclosed, competitive microcosm.

Sincerely, Richard Q. Callahan '90

To The Editor:

After reading the May 12, 1989, Scroll, I have one concern I would like to bring to your attention. I feel the quality of your sports articles is poor.

The articles are shallow and one-sided. Most of them merely list scores of games with a few scattered quotes from players and coaches. It is easy to get the impression that the reporter never even attended the games covered!

Objectivity is completely absent in the articles, and opposing teams are rarely mentioned. It seems as if Deerfield is the only team playing or at least the only team that can speak!

Another weak spot is the j.v., reserve and recreational sports coverage. Although these athletes may not be as talented, they work just as hard and receive less recognition by The Scroll. The ironic twist to this point is that a good number of these sub-varsity teams have better records than the varsity teams and are important to just as many students as the varsity teams.

I have a few suggestions for improvement: interviews with opposing teams' coaches and players, adding some of the games' highlights to the articles, giving more credit to sub-varsity athletes, and putting a good deal more pride in reporting. I hope you will consider these suggestions seriously, for it will improve the quality of the entire paper.

Sincerely,
Darryl R. Freni '90

Mr. Ralph Savarese, Mrs. Emily Savarese and Mr. Joseph Frazier will leave Deerfield after the completion of the spring term.

Savarese, Frazier, Ellis will depart D.A. after school year

by William Mabon

Four more faculty members will be leaving Deerfield after the completion of the 1988-1989 school year. They are Mr. Ralph Savarese and Mrs. Emily Savarese of the English Department, and Mr. Peter Ellis and Mr. Joseph Frazier of the Math Department.

Mrs. Savarese mentioned what she liked most about Deerfield. "You have the opportunity to teach what you want to teach — the things you are most excited about." Mr. Savarese agreed, but cited, "What we enjoyed least was how absolutely regimented the lifestyle is for both students and faculty. For our taste, it's too confining."

Next year the Savarese will be living at their house in Vermont. They will be taking Polish I at the University of Massachusetts. In addition to studying Polish, Mr. Savarese will continue working on a novel and a book of poems.

Mr. Frazier, in his three-year stay at Deerfield, coached the Debate and Cycling teams. Next year he plans to work for an insurance company in Worcester, Massachusetts.

Mr. Ellis, who came to Deerfield this year, will be remembered for his sense of humor in his announcements. Reports about the ski jumping and math teams at school meetings brought laughter. When talking about his plans for next year, he remained humorous. "I'll miss driving [ski jumping] van number four, sit-down meals, and the women of Greenfield."

Mr. Ellis will be enrolled in the graduate mathematics program at the University of North Carolina at Chapel Hill. He plans to return to teaching after receiving his Master's degree.

Baccalaureate talk addresses urgent points for success

by Dewey Brinkley

Speaking at last Sunday's Baccalaureate service in the Brick Church, Mr. Peter Hindle of the Math Department told seniors, "You have been given a liberal arts education with courses in seven different departments. Some have turned you on to a subject and some may have turned you off."

He noted that it is excellent training to learn to work with a variety of subjects and a variety of people. Seniors will encounter the same challenge in college and in vocations after college, he said.

He urged students to learn how to deal with difficult problems, whether on a test or in homework. "At Deerfield it has been easy to run to another student or to a teacher. Try to train yourself to feel the satisfaction of tackling a tough problem and conquering it."

"You cannot like everyone you meet. Some personalities will appeal to you and some will not. Be sensitive to the strengths and weaknesses of people around you and act accordingly in dealing with them," he said.

A sense of fair play and sportsmanship, Mr. Hindle said, "also carries over from the athletic field to actions in a dorm, at the dining table, and elsewhere. Do not create humor at the expense of another person or a group of people."

Mr. Hindle asked students to develop a sense of loyalty. "This is the main fabric that holds a family together, and when it is lost, the marriage often ends in divorce."

"When people ask me to compare the scholars of today with those of 30 years ago, I usually state that today, the students are more open and not afraid to discuss what is on their minds. I feel this is healthy and good," he said.

Mr. Hindle invited seniors to "come back and support the sons and daughters of Deerfield."

The Pocumtuck editors for 1989-1990 are George Richards, Christopher Ziebarth, Andy Smith, Alejandro Poma, Paul Lyons, Ryan McTaggart, Joe Lazarus and Bruce Shatel.

Pocumtuck editors selected for '89-'90

by Geordy Richards

The Deerfield Academy yearbook Pocumtuck will be faced with a tough job in the 1989-90 school year. Under the leadership of Paul Lyons '90 and Andrew Smith '90 as editors-in-chief, the staff will work to make the new girls feel welcome.

Girls will be chosen in October and be assigned to all editorial positions except editor-in-chief in an attempt to integrate girls into the activities of the school. Girls who are interested but not as qualified will also be able to join the staff.

The 1990 staff will be following this year's examples in many respects, but they will also incorporate new ideas into the yearbook. Like this year's Pocumtuck, there will be a section of "formals," which is a layout of all the Deerfield students. Lyons explained, "It makes finding a person who you cannot recognize much easier. The formals will be a roster of the students you went to school with." This will be changed slightly, however, as this year's yearbook is examined.

Next year there will also be a color section comparable to this year's "Retrospect" pages in which Deerfield is "looked at as an all-boy institution." In this section there are pictures of Plunkett Dormitory, the Deerfield River, and senior faculty members. These pictures are used to illustrate the atmosphere which the Academy has had as an all-male school.

The color pages in next year's Pocumtuck will be a look into the future of Deerfield as a coeducational institution. In addition, the yearbook will continue with the additional 40 pages which it gained this year.

This year the Pocumtuck will be dedicated to Mr. Daniel Hodermarsky, former Headmaster David M. Pynchon, Mr. Donald Burdick, Mr. Russ Miller '32, Mr. Frank Dahowski '27 and the Deerfield Boy.

Cum Laude Society names 17 scholars from junior and senior classes

by Ian Pront

The Cum Laude Society recently inducted 17 new members. The Society's purpose is to give recognition for the outstanding academic achievements of juniors and seniors.

John Peters, Pramote Piriyaok-sombut, Husain Rasheed, Romeo Reyes, Polapat Surabote and Worawat Tangsangaksri. Mark Saadeh, Chris Morgan, and Adam Lubinsky are the only seniors elected to the Society as juniors last year. Inwoo Chang, Ravinder Dahiya, Bernard Fallon, Jong-Yun Kim, Joseph Magher and Manoj Massand were all elected last week to the Cum Laude Society as juniors.

Seniors elected to the society make up roughly the top ten percent of their class. The average grade point average for a Cum Laude Society senior is 88%. Juniors must have attended Deerfield their sophomore year. They must have held an average of 90% for their sophomore year as well as maintained an average of 90% for the first two terms of their junior year.

The faculty committee that reviews candidates includes chapter president Peter Brush, Charles Danielski, Alan Fraker, chapter secretary Peter Hindle, Daniel Hodermarsky, Headmaster Robert Kaufmann, and Gordon MacLeod.

Kim wins Gold Keys

by Alexis Papali

Dae-Chin Kim '89, currently working on an alternate studies program under Mr. Daniel Hodermarsky, has received the Scholastic Art Award in recognition of his achievements in this field. He entered eight works in the contest and succeeded in passing all three of its levels to win a First Prize.

In this competition, held by Scholastic, Inc., there are three levels: Regional, State and National. Kim soared past the first two, winning three "Gold Keys." His folder then went to New York to win a Certificate of Merit in the National competition.

Kim, a four-year student, plans to attend the Rhode Island School of Design in September. On a scale of 2 to 6 in the school's selection process, 2 being the highest, he scored a 3.5, which is among the top ten percent. Asked about any ambitions regarding an artistic career, he said, "I'm undecided so far, but I'll know for sure after my first year in college."

Varsity Band cuts album

by John Fichthorn

One of the most prominent bands on the Deerfield campus this year is the Varsity Band. The band consists of Bryan Sells '89, bass; Andrew Cabot '89, keyboards and vocals; Tim Green '89, electric guitars; Alex Lehnen '90, drums; and Amanda Wright, vocals.

As the school year progressed, the band improved. They began to play concerts in the local area and on campus. This spring, band members decided that for an alternate studies project, they would cut an album. The album is entitled "Travel Light." All of the songs on it were written by the Varsity Band, except "World Spinning," which was written by Andrew Cabot, a member of the band.

Bryan Sells, the bass player for the band, said, "Basically this incarnation of the band was born in the middle of the fall term. We didn't get really serious until the middle of the winter term when we began to write our own songs. During the winter we were practicing up to two hours a day. Everything finally came together this spring, when we took all of our hard work into the studio."

"The songs on the album are primarily rock and roll/pop. But there is also a touch of progressive, blues, and funk," Green said.

The eight songs deal with topics about everyday life. Of these, band members said that "S.O.S." and "The Tunnel" are their best songs.

Copies of the band's record "Travel Light" can be bought from any of the members, or at Record Town in Greenfield.

Library sports aquarium

by Joe Vitale

A 33-gallon aquarium was placed in the main lobby of the Library last week, where it will remain as a permanent display.

The idea of having the tank came from Cliff Earle '89, president of the Deerfield Academy Aquarium Club, and Mark Winslow '90, next year's president. "We thought that it would enhance the atmosphere of the Library, while also promoting interest in aquariums," Winslow stated.

The two took their idea to the student council, who appropriated $460 for the tank and supplies and $50 for fish.

Because the end of the year is near, the aquarium will remain only partially set up until September. Among the fish will be Betta, Neons, Angelfish, Cardinals, Red-Tailed Sharks, Placos, Catfish, and Guaramies.

The Aquarium Club's members will be responsible for feeding the fish and maintaining the tank.

Alumni meet June 9

by Patrick Stephenson

Deerfield's reunions of 1989, featuring graduating class years ending in a nine or a four, will be held June 9, 10, and 11. Alumni Secretary James Marksbury said that the reunions are "a celebration of the concept of the Deerfield family."

The size of the reunions makes it an enormous event. Approximately 750 alumni will be attending — some sleeping in dormitories, other at surrounding hotels. During the three days, alumni will participate in a number of activities, including class meetings, entertainment by the Paradise City Jazz Band and an optional three-mile road race entitled the "Deerfield Mini Marathon." Dinner the evening of June 9 and lunch and dinner June 10 will be held in the Great Tent, a massive structure to be constructed adjacent to Barton Field. The total cost of reunions will be $80,000.

Each invited class has a chairman determined the summer beforehand, who encourages participation and gathers annual support as the class gift to the Academy.

Mr. Marksbury noted, "The event is a means of bringing alumni back to renew their ties with the school and their old friendships with classmates."

Lacrosse takes Exeter in triple overtime

by William Conrad

The varsity lacrosse game against Exeter May 21 was undoubtedly its most exciting game of the season. At the end of four quarters the game was deadlocked at 7-7. In the third overtime Darryl Freni '90 fed a pass to Henry Calam '89, who fired it home to win the game, 8-7.

The team faced off against Kingswood-Oxford May 17 and lost, 11-9, after leading most of the game. Earlier in the season the Green were blown out, 13-3, by an exceptionally strong Avon team. The squad also fell to Kent, 8-5, May 10. Their record now stands at 5-8.

The lacrosse team has been led offensively by John Tierney '89, Freni, and Pat Rehnberg '91. Co-Captain Harvey Smith '89 and goaltender Ed Opler '89 have led the squad all season on defense. They have also benefited from the strong play of Leigh Schmitt '90, the team's captain-elect for next year.

The varsity lacrosse team's season has been one of ups and downs. Coach Robert Larkin commented, "This year we've had spurts of brilliance and then gone flat." Smith added, "We started off the season well and then got into a slump. Now we're trying to bring it together again."

The squad had their chance May 24 (too late for press time) when they played Northfield Mount Hermon in the last game of the season.

Golf drops one to Loomis Chaffee

by Alexander Davit III

The varsity golf team played a close match against Loomis Chaffee May 20 and lost by three strokes. Many of this year's matches have been close. The team beat Williston by one point May 17.

According to Captain Doug Sichel '89, the best players in the Loomis Chaffee match were Scott Donoghue '89 and Joe Magher '90. Sichel further noted, "It's usually up to the last three players whether we win or lose a match."

Scott Donoghue added, "The season went fairly well. If Doug and I had been able to come together consistently, our season would have been much better."

One factor in this year's good season for the golf team has been the sunny and warm weather. "We have been having great weather lately, and that makes a big difference," Sichel said.

The varsity golf team defended their New England Champion title, May 25 at the Oak Ridge Golf Club. Teams from prep schools across New England competed.

John Fichthorn '91 said, "This year's golf team really began to come together towards the end of the season. Fourth and fifth players, especially Jason Potter '89 and John Hickey '89 dropped their scores and began to contribute more to the team. The upper half of the team was consistent throughout the season."

Tennis places fourth at Prep Championships

by Josh Singewald

Deerfield's varsity tennis team competed in the New England Prep School Invitational Tennis Tournament and tied for fourth place, May 20.

Andrew Lee '89

The Big Green's record is now 8-5.

Andrew Lee '89 placed third in the A singles and Jerry Morsman finished fourth in the B singles. Coach Joseph Morsman commented, "We were pleased with a respectable fourth place finish and a fine season as well."

The varsity team played the Dartmouth College j.v. and were beaten convincingly, 9-0, May 17. This wasn't an upset because Dartmouth is perennially a strong team at the college j.v. level.

Deerfield suffered another loss to Exeter, 5-4, May 13. Lee won at first position with a 6-3, 6-1 victory. Morsman also won at second position, 6-3, 6-0. In doubles play, Morsman and Lee teamed up to win in straight sets as well.

The netmen traveled to play a talented Hotchkiss team May 10 and were defeated, 6.5-2.5. In this match, Deerfield was outplayed by a better tennis team. Lee won at first in a superb match over an opponent whom he had earlier lost to at the Kingswood Tournament.

The varsity tennis team played a team from Toronto, May 7. Upper Canada College defeated the Big Green, 6-4. In that match, Manoj Massand '90 and John Horton '89 won. In a great doubles match the duo of Lee and Morsman teamed up to win, 2-6, 6-2, 7-6, 15-13 in the tie breaker. They won the tie breaker by making some crucial shots and keeping their composure under pressure.

Morsman commented on the season, "I liked this season because it was both competitive and fun, and I especially enjoyed playing doubles with Andrew Lee."

Andrew Lee said, "I was pleased with my third place finish in the New England's and on the year in general. The season was fun and enjoyable."

Manoj Massand commented, "I learned a lot from the older players this year, and I am excited about next season and leading the team as captain."

Worcester ousts baseball in first game at N.E.'s

by George Dewey

Varsity baseball traveled to the New England Invitational Tournament, May 21. Worcester defeated them in the first round by a score of 12-2.

Coach Lee Magee commented, "The loss was a combination of two things. We couldn't get anything going offensively and Denis Maguire '89 did not have his best outing." Maguire received his first loss of the season, which puts his record at 5-1.

The team played its final league game May 17 against Wilbraham Monson and won, 15-1. In his first pitching appearance, Captain Matt Davey '89 went seven strong innings. A strong offensive performance was put in by E.G. Morse '89, who had four RBI's. This win leaves Deerfield with a league record of 7-1.

Deerfield split a doubleheader against Andover, May 13, winning

Baseball	11-4
Cycling
Varsity A	3rd in New Englands
Varsity B	3-1

Varsity records

Golf	12-4
Lacrosse	5-8
Tennis	8-5
Track	2-3(3rd in Interscholastics)

the first game, 7-3. Matt Ripperger '90 pitched a complete game and Cain Dimon '89 contributed by getting three triples.

Deerfield lost the second game,

9-4. Fred Jackson '90 stated, "We usually have trouble getting psyched for the second game. Against Exeter we came back, but this time we just got too far in the hole."

Matthew Ripperger '90 pitches the Green to victory against Andover.

Best wishes to all,

Mrs. Mary McLellan

Thus Far So Nobly Advanced

Give us the grace to be men
With heads and hearts above the fall of power
Come to us.

Give us the course to take Another's failure. Give us wisdom; give us love
To know that scarcely all can see the quiet war
That points to victory of discipline and honor.

Give us less of scorn.
O give us time to guard the winnings
From the winners. O give us words that shrug
Giant shoulders at the false display of poetry
That does not show the pilgrim far before the brave.

Varsity track finishes 3rd in Interscholastics

by Andrew Stone

After a decisive victory against Choate Rosemary Hall, May 13, approximately 20 athletes traveled to the Track Interscholastics at Andover, May 20. Although the team was expected to place sixth or seventh, it placed third overall behind Andover and Northfield Mount Hermon.

In addition to its strong finish, the team edged out Loomis and Exeter, two schools it lost to earlier in the season.

In the field events, several strong performances by relative beginners picked up points. Desmond Pollock '90 in his second year on the team placed sixth in the shot put, while Lee Sutton '90 in his first year placed seventh. Veteran Dan O'Hearn '90 placed first in the discus and Don Ampansiri '89 placed fourth in the javelin.

Ampansiri said, "There are a lot of strong beginners performing well in the field events. Also, O'Hearn will be super next year. Because of new strength in the field events, we are becoming a more balanced team." O'Hearn commented on the team's performance at the Interscholastics: "The heat was a big factor. It just was not a good day to throw. It was tough on us, trying to keep our intensity. It was even harder on the long-distance runners."

In the running events the team had an even stronger showing. Although nobody placed in the hurdles, 100, or 200 meter races, John Harper '89 placed fifth in the 400 meter race, while the team of Harper, Captain Chris Morgan '89, Ravi Dahiya '90, and Josh Hanna '90 placed second in the four man, 400 meter race. In the long-distance events, Hanna placed second in the 800 meter race, while Co-Captain Tyson Byrne '89 placed second and third in the 1500 and 3000 meter races, respectively.

O'Hearn added, "We had strong teams both this year and last year. I have a feeling that the team will be super next year." On the difference between this team and last year's team he commented, "We lost individual stars from last year and as a result we became a better team."
